Subject Guide to Books in Print, 1984 Evolutionary Behavioral Ecology David Westneat, Charles

Fox, 2010-03-05 Evolutionary Behavioral Ecology is intended to be used as a text for graduate students and a sourcebook for professional scientists seeking an understanding of the evolutionary and ecological processes shaping behavior across a wide array of organisms and a diverse set of behaviors Chapters are written by leading experts in the field providing a core foundation a history of conceptual developments and fresh insight into the controversies and themes shaping the continuing development of the field Essays on adaptation selection fitness genetics plasticity and phylogeny as they pertain to behavior place the field in the broader context of ecology and evolution These concepts along with a diversity of theoretical approaches are applied to the evolution of behavior in a many contexts from individual decision making of solitary animals through to complex social interactions Chapters integrate conceptual and theoretical approaches with recent empirical advances to understand the evolution of behavior from foraging dealing with risk predator avoidance and an array of social behaviors including fighting and cooperation with conspecifics and conflict and cooperation between the sexes The material emphasizes integrative and novel approaches to behavior including cognitive ecology personality conservation biology the links between behavior and evolution the evolution of human social behavior and ways in which modern genetic analyses can augment the study of behavior Science Books & Films ,1987 Book Review Digest ,1992 Race in the Making Lawrence A. Hirschfeld,1996 Race in the Making provides a new understanding of how people conceptualize social categories and shows why this knowledge is so readily recruited to create and maintain systems of unequal power Hirschfeld argues that knowledge of race is not derived from observations of physical difference nor does it develop in the same way as knowledge of other social categories Instead his central claim is that racial thinking is the product of a special purpose cognitive competence for understanding and representing human kinds The book also challenges the conventional wisdom that race is purely a social construction by demonstrating that a common set of abstract principles underlies all systems of racial thinking whatever other historical and cultural specificities may be associated with them Starting from the commonplace observation that race is a category of both power and the mind Race in the Making directly tackles this issue Through a sustained exploration of continuity and change in the child s notion of race and across historical variations in the race concept Hirschfeld shows that a singular commonsense theory about human kinds constrains the way racial thinking changes whether in historical time or during childhood After surveying the literature on the development of a cultural psychology of race Hirschfeld presents original studies that examine children s and occasionally adults representations of race He sketches how a jointly cultural and psychological approach to race might proceed showing how this approach yields new insights into the emergence and elaboration of racial thinking Levine/M Biology Ig for Lab Guide Levine,1991

The Oxford Handbook of Developmental Psychology, Vol. 1 Philip David Zelazo,2013-01-15 Research in developmental psychology which examines the history origins and causes of behavior and age related changes in behavior seeks to construct a complex multi level characterization of behavior as it unfolds in time across a range of time scales from the milliseconds of reaction time to the days and weeks of childhood the decades of the human lifespan and even beyond to multiple generations Behavior in this view is embedded within what is essentially a dynamic system of relations extending deep within individuals Thorough and engaging this handbook explores the impact of this research on what is now known about psychological development from birth to biological maturity and it highlights the extent to which the most cutting edge developmental science reflects a new kind of intellectual synthesis one that reveals how cultural social cognitive neural and molecular processes work together to yield human behavior and changes in human behavior With insightful contributions from more than 50 of the world s leading developmental scientists these two volumes will serve as an influential and informed text for students and as an authoritative desk reference for years to come The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,2000 Fundamental Neuroscience Michael J.
