

Behavior Modification Project

For this assignment, you will apply the principles of operant conditioning to modify an existing behavior. You will propose a program for changing a behavior and then later, after implementing your program, report on its results with a film or paper.

The following steps are very important to the success of your assignment.

1. Identify a target behavior to be modified, either an undesirable behavior that you would like to eliminate or a desirable behavior that they would like to strengthen. (study habits, sporting skills, health habits, or personal interaction skills)

Examples of potential undesirable behaviors to eliminate include

- smoking cigarettes,
- eating fatty foods,
- watching too much TV,
- speeding, poor driving,
- phobias or anxieties,
- procrastination before exams or papers.

Examples of desirable behaviors to be increased include

- remembering people's names,
- becoming more punctual with respect to class or social events,
- spending more time doing homework,
- using a turn signal, seat belt, BRAKES, while driving,
- increasing a skill in sports (e.g., using a left foot in soccer, increasing free-throw percentage in basketball).

2. After identifying the target behavior, you will monitor your behavior and try to generate a plausible explanation for why the problem exists. What is reinforcing the behavior? You should also describe why you want to change the behavior and what benefits change will bring.
3. Next, carefully design a program for modifying the behavior. Provide yourself with a positive reinforcer that is contingent on specific improvements in the target behavior. You can use the same reinforcer that now maintains your undesirable behavior. Tokens could be used, for every hour of homework = 1 token. 1 token = 1 hour of TV!
4. Remember you may need to use shaping in regards to your new behavior.
5. Lastly, to what degree was the program successful? If you succeeded, propose a plan to help you maintain the change. If it failed, propose (but do not carry out) an alternative plan that might be more successful in the future.
6. Your film will demonstrate all the elements of the behavior modification as listed above. It should be no longer than 5 minutes in length. If you choose to write a paper it will be 3 pages, double spaced, 12 pt. font, with 1 inch margins, no title page needed. Please include some sort of graph that visually shows your target behavior and behavior frequency.

Behavior Modification Paper

Daniel G. Brown

Behavior Modification Paper:

Behavior Modification Procedure Edwin J. Thomas, Behavior modification has lacked operational procedures to sharpen techniques and equipment. These aspects have lagged behind the development of general principles and specialized modification techniques. This sophisticated sourcebook is devoted exclusively to the technical details of how to do it in behavioral assessment and practice, an aspect of behavior modification that is relatively undeveloped despite its significance and that has only recently received the attention it deserves. The selections contained in this volume have been drawn from a variety of technical areas and are organized into six main parts. The first part emphasizes the importance of technology and procedure in the history of the field and in the second part attention is given to guidelines for practice with individuals and families that may be employed with a wide variety of problems and patrons in many service settings. The next part on interviewing guidelines and style includes an interview guide for behavioral counseling and a general discussion of types of bias and therapist influence in behavioral assessment. Part four is concerned with observation recording and monitoring and part five on schedules and checklists includes a variety of schedules and rating forms including a therapist schedule for rating family verbal behavior. The last part on instrumentation in behavior therapy contains a chapter that is a major comprehensive description and review of electromechanical devices applicable to behavior modification. Because the book covers procedural details it serves not only as a sourcebook but as a volume every practicing behavior modifier as well as researchers in behavior therapy and modification will find useful. Social workers, teachers, clinical psychologists, psychiatrists, pastoral counselors, and their students will appreciate this manual covering technical information required for effective practice.

International Handbook of Behavior Modification and Therapy Alan S. Bellack, Michel Hersen, Alan E. Kazdin, 2012-12-06. The rapid growth of behavior therapy over the past 20 years has been well documented. Yet the geometric expansion of the field has been so great that it deserves to be recounted. We all received our graduate training in the mid to late 1960s. Courses in behavior therapy were then a rarity. Behavioral training was based more on informal tutorials than on systematic programs of study. The behavioral literature was so circumscribed that it could be easily mastered in a few months of study. A mere half dozen books by Wolpe, Lazarus, Eysenck, Ullmann, and Krasner more or less comprised the behavioral library in the mid 1960s. Seminal works by Ayllon and Azrin, Bandura, Franks, and Kanfer in 1968 and 1969 made it only slightly more difficult to survey the field. Keeping abreast of new developments was not very difficult as Behaviour Research and Therapy and the Journal of Applied Behavior Analysis were the only regular outlets for behavioral articles until the end of the decade when Behavior Therapy and Behavior Therapy and Experimental Psychiatry first appeared. We are too young to be maudlin but Oh for the good old days. One of us did a quick survey of his bookshelves and stopped counting books with behavior or behavioral in the titles when he reached 100. There were at least half again as many behavioral books without those words in the title.

Behavior Modification in the Treatment of Depression Robert Cvancara, 1982 DHEW

Publication ,1971 Progress in Behavior Modification Michel Hersen, Richard M. Eisler, Peter M. Miller, 2013-10-22
Progress in Behavior Modification Volume 12 covers the developments in the study of behavior modification. The book presents papers on the appraisal of research and a proposal for an integrative model for agoraphobia on organizational behavior management and on behavioral techniques for decreasing aberrant behaviors of retarded and autistic persons. The text also includes papers on behavior therapy in rehabilitation, competence, depression, and behavior modification with women and on the theory, research, and practice in self-control procedures with the mentally retarded. A paper on the modification of adult aggression is also considered. Psychologists and students taking related courses will find the book invaluable.

Bibliography of Behavior Modification, 1924-1975 ,1975 Behavior Modification in Child and School Mental Health Daniel G. Brown, 1971. 118 annotated citations on behavior modification in children. Covers journal articles, books, and some unpublished papers. Journal and paper citations include author's address and book citations include publisher's address and price. Journal of Behavior Therapy and Experimental Psychiatry ,1978 Applications of Behavior Modification Travis Thompson, William S. Dockens, 1975 Handbook of Behavior Modification and Behavior Therapy Harold Leitenberg, 1976. Abstract A detailed examination of research on the clinical use of behavioral strategies for treatment of specific behavior disorders in adults and children, e.g., alcoholism, eating disorders, physiological disorders, neuroses, depression, sexual disorders, is provided for college students and professionals. Specific disorders and behavior modification approaches are covered for children and youths suffering from psychosis, mental retardation, juvenile delinquency, and school and family problems. Some traditional psychiatric disorders, e.g., suicide, manic depressive psychosis, are excluded due to lack of sufficient research on behavioral treatment. Operant conditioning is applied to the treatment and prevention of behavior disorders. wz Resources in Education ,1977-12 Behavior Modification for Counseling Centers John L. Shelton, 1976 Behavior Modification in Clinical Psychology Charles Neuringer, Jack L. Michael, Jack Michael, 1970. This volume is the outgrowth of the proceedings of the ninth annual Institute for Research in Clinical Psychology held at the University of Kansas campus on April 3rd to 5th, 1967. These institutes were initiated by M. Erik Wright of the University of Kansas Psychology Department in the late 1950s. Their focus has been on new developments in research and theory in clinical psychology. The ninth of these institutes concerned the role and place of behavior modification techniques in clinical
