Decoding Homes and Houses Julienne Hanson,2003-10-16 Exploration of the relationship between the design of housing and domestic routine

De Stijl and Dutch Modernism Michael White,2003-09-20 The name De Stijl title of a magazine founded in the Netherlands in 1917 is now used to identify the abstract art and functional architecture of its major contributors Mondrian Van Doesburg Van der Leek Oud Wils and Rietveld De Stijl achieved international acclaim by the end of the 1920s and its paintings buildings and furniture made fundamental contributions to the modern movement This book is the first to emphasize the local context of De Stijl and explore its relationship to the distinctive character of Dutch modernism It examines how the debates concerning abstraction in painting and spatiality in architecture were intimately connected to contemporary developments in the fields of urban planning advertising interior design and exhibition design The book describes the interaction between the world of mass culture and the fine arts

Designing the British Post-War Home Fiona Fisher,2015-04-10 In Designing the British Post War Home Fiona Fisher explores the development of modern domestic architecture in Britain through a detailed study of the work of the successful Surrey based architectural practice of Kenneth Wood Wood s firm is representative of a geographically distinct category of post war architectural and design practice that of the small private practice that flourished in Britain s expanding suburbs after the removal of wartime building restrictions Such firms which played an important role in the development of British domestic design are currently under represented within architectural histories of the period The private house represents an important site in which new spatial material and aesthetic parameters for modern living were defined after the Second World War Within a British context the architect designed private house remained an important vehicle for the investigation of architectural ideas by second generation modernist architects and designers Through a series of case study houses designed by Wood s firm the book reconsiders the progress of modern domestic architecture in Britain and demonstrates the ways in which architectural discourse and practice intersected with the experience performance and representation of domestic modernity in post war Britain

Place and Phenomenology Janet Donohoe,2017-03-17 This cross disciplinary book uses phenomenological method and description to explore questions of place underscoring the significance of phenomenology for place and place for phenomenology The book brings together prominent scholars in phenomenology of place Covering a range of issues from sacred places to embodiment and identity and from environmental art and architecture to limit places the contributors explore theoretical foundations through thinkers such as Heidegger Marion Young Husserl and Leopold among others Phenomenological method and description are brought to bear on concrete places such as rivers the Himalayas modern transit sacred architecture and more The book is accessible and pertinent to on going discussions in human geography architectural theory environmental studies and philosophy of place Provocative and imaginative the essays provide a much needed look at the contributions of phenomenology to as well as the role of place in contemporary philosophical and environmental discussions

Courtyard

Housing Brian Edwards,2006 This book demonstrates through discussions on sustainability and regional identity and via a series of case studies that the courtyard housing form has a future as well as a past Home, Materiality, Memory and Belonging Rachel Hurdley,2013-05-07 Assembling Mass Observation Archive material with historiographies of family house and nation from ancient Greece to present day Europe China and America this book contributes to current debates on identity belonging memory and material culture by exploring how power works in the small spaces of home Town House Bernard L. Herman,2012-12-01 In this abundantly illustrated volume Bernard Herman provides a history of urban dwellings and the people who built and lived in them in early America In the eighteenth century cities were constant objects of idealization often viewed as the outward manifestations of an organized civil society As the physical objects that composed the largest portion of urban settings town houses contained and signified different aspects of city life argues Herman Taking a material culture approach Herman examines urban domestic buildings from Charleston South Carolina to Portsmouth New Hampshire as well as those in English cities and towns to better understand why people built the houses they did and how their homes informed everyday city life Working with buildings and documentary sources as diverse as court cases and recipes Herman interprets town houses as lived experience Chapters consider an array of domestic spaces including the merchant family s house the servant s quarter and the widow s dower Herman demonstrates that city houses served as sites of power as well as complex and often conflicted artifacts mapping the everyday negotiations of social identity and the display of sociability Institution and Home Julia W. Robinson,2006 Institution and Home explores the concepts of institutionality and home and compares various institutional and home environments and identifies the attitudes and behaviors associated with diverse housing settings and the design elements that generate and express them It explains the reasons why we fear living in institutional settings for example showing how institutional environments can contribute to a loss of autonomy The Architects' Journal ,1999-04 Appropriated 'a la Franga' Yasemin Ince Guney,2005 Gender, Taste, and Material Culture in Britain and North America, 1700-1830 John Styles,Amanda Vickery,2006 Between 1700 and 1830 men and women in the English speaking territories framing the Atlantic gained unprecedented access to material things The British Atlantic was an empire of goods held together not just by political authority and a common language but by a shared material culture nourished by constant flows of commodities Diets expanded to include exotic luxuries such as tea and sugar the fruits of mercantile and colonial expansion Homes were furnished with novel goods like clocks and earthenware teapots the products of British industrial ingenuity This groundbreaking book compares these developments in Britain and North America bringing together a multi disciplinary group of scholars to consider basic questions about women men and objects in these regions In asking who did the shopping how things were used and why they became the subject of political dispute the essays show the profound significance of everyday objects in the eighteenth century Atlantic world Traditional Dwellings and Settlements Working Paper Series ,2004 Building Communities

Ruth Westgate, Nicolas Ralph Edmund Fisher, James Whitley, 2007 This volume explores a range of approaches to the built environment of the ancient Mediterranean world with two main aims first to relate archaeological evidence to the wider cultural and historical context and second to bridge the conventional divide between prehistoric and Classical archaeology It contains 40 papers by an international array of scholars ranging from the Neolithic to Late Antiquity and geographically from the Aegean to Italy North Africa Egypt and the Black Sea Major themes include the theory and methodology of analysing and interpreting built space the relationship of the built environment to social and political structures and the formation of states the development of civic and religious space the identification of households in the archaeological record the formation and interpretation of domestic assemblages problems in the identification of functional areas within the house changing conceptions of public and private space and gender the function and significance of decoration in houses and palaces the uses of ethnoarchaeology and virtual reality for understanding architectural remains the effects of acculturation in the domestic sphere the archaeology of the domestic economy the problems of combining literary and archaeological evidence The papers offer many new interpretations of a wide range of material and taken together give an exciting overview of the latest scholarship and ideas in this rich and developing field of study The conference formed part of the British Academy AHRB funded project Strategies Structures and Ideologies of the Built Environment RIBA Journal, 1999
