ABSTRACT

Writing a technical paper can be an hard task and, often, writers are not certain what should be included and how the information should be presented. [2]

Usefully, there is a standard outline to which the most important scientific and engineering journals are compliant. Here instructions for authors for publications in railwaysignalling.eu e-journal, are given.

Even if this document doesn't give tips about the railwaysignalling.eu formatting rules, you can use it as both an instruction set and a template into which you can type your own text. However, for further details about any formatting constraints for publications, refer to the the document "technical_paper_formatting_rules".

A standard technical paper contains an introduction, which includes a statement of the problem, a literature review and a general outline of the paper, a methods section showing the work done, results and analysis, discussion and applications, and a conclusions section.

Following this tips, you'll be able to write a clear and flowing paper, to be published on the e-journal.

KEYWORDS: technical paper, journal article, scientific writing, how to, outline

1. INTRODUCTION

The essence of engineering is the application of theory to produce tangible results. If a technical paper contains both theory and measured results, and clearly shows how the theory and results can be broadly applied, generally it can be submitted for a publication. [9] railwaysignalling.eu is a technical e-journal. It grows with the purpose to publish high-tech articles about the most advanced and widespread signaling and train control European solutions.

So, what's the best way to share your professionalism, increase your knowledge and your visibility?

The most engineering and science articles, have an accepted general format, witch consists in a structure of paragraphs, through which the author should completely and clearly describe his work.

Note that railwaysignalling.eu doesn't impose you to submit only a strictly innovative publication. Indeed, if one of our purposes is pushing the railway signalling technologies to innovative solution, on the other hand we want to share all kind of knowledge about these topics, even if already known by someone.

Thus, even if your contribute isn't oriented to find new results, we aim to transfer and extend the area of your knowledge.

The layout of a formal technical paper typically consists of the following key elements: Abstract, Introduction, Methods, Results, Analysis, Discussion and Conclusion. The Abstract and Introduction are standard with their titles and content. The core of the paper is contained in the main body section, (Methods, Results, Analysis and Discussion) and the labeling or titles for these sections vary depending on the topic. The Conclusion section is relatively standard with its titling and content. Optionally, an Acknowledgements section is inserted between the conclusions and references paragraphs.

This paper explains in details how to write a technical article following these rules, to be published on railwaysignalling.eu. Anyway, what you're going to read is applicable to every branches of engineering.

2. STRUCTURE OF THE PAPER

2.1 Abstract

The abstract is a brief, accurate, and comprehensive summary of the article contents, without added interpretation or criticism. [10]

It should be a single paragraph, no longer than 200 words, written with the purpose to reduce the whole paper in a few rows. Thus, it should contains:

- A general introduction to the topic (summary of the introduction paragraph)
- A brief description of the analysis and the operative methods (summary of the methods paragraph)
- An outline of the major results (summary of the introduction paragraph)
- A summary of the conclusion paragraph

The challenge you've to deal with, is just raising the main contents of the whole paper and building a stand-alone mini-summary of the paper.

Readers normally have their first contact with an article by seeing just the abstract and deciding on the basis of the abstract whether to read the entire article. Thus, an abstract must be informative and readable, well organized, concise, and self-contained. [10]
