Objects, Commodities and Material Cultures in the Dutch Republic Judith Noorman, Feike Dietz, 2025-10-01 How did objects move between places and people, and how did they reshape the Republic's arts, cultures, and sciences? Objects were vitally significant for the early modern Dutch Republic, which is known as an early consumer society, a place famous for its exhaustive production of books visual arts and scientific instruments What happens when we push these objects and their materiality to the centre of our research How do they invite us to develop new perspectives on the early modern Dutch Republic And how do they contest the boundaries of the academic disciplines that have traditionally organized our scholarship In Objects Commodities and Material Cultures the interdisciplinary community of specialists around the Amsterdam Centre for the Study of Early Modernity innovatively explores the diverse early modern world of objects Its contributors take a single object or commodity as a point of departure to study and discuss various aspects of early modern art culture and history from natural objects to consumer goods from knowledge instruments to artistic materials The volume aims to unravel how objects have moved through regions cultures and ages and how objects impacted people who lived and worked in the Dutch Republic
