Android CardView Tutorial We have already discussed about RecyclerView in the following tutorial Listing Items using RecyclerView and shown a recyclerview example in android studio. Today we will discuss about CardView in Android SDK which was introduced with the android material design through the

Today we will discuss about CardView in Android SDK which was introduced with the android material design through the support v7 library. We will show you how CardView can be implemented in a RecyclerView list. After reading this article you should feel comfortable creating Lists and Cards view in your android app.

CardView provides a more advanced and flexible way of implementing complex and custom listview with more functionality that is required nowadays for our apps.

We would be creating an Android CardView Example List app, where we will list 7 wonders of Modern World along with a Like Button and a Share Button. On clicking the Like Button it will get highlighted and show a message. Clicking the Share Button will provide you options to share the photo of the Item you clicked. After completion, the app would look like as shown in the video.

Pre-requisites

1. Android Studio installed on your PC (Unix or Windows).
2. A real time android device (Smartphone or Tablet) configured with Android Studio.
