Cell City Analogy

Floating around in the cytoplasm are small structures called organelles. Like the organelles, each one carries out a specific function necessary for the cell to survive. Imagine the cell as a miniature city. The organelles might represent companies, places or parts of a city because they each have similar jobs. Below are the descriptions of important parts of a city.

- City Limits/Police Department - control what goes in and out of the city
- Road System - Allows for movement throughout the city.
- City Hall - Controls all the activities of the city.
- D. City Auditor/Clerk - Stores all the records of the city and passes them on as the city grows.
- E. City Planning Office - A place in the city hall where plans are made for the construction of the city.
- Construction Company - Builds structures for the city.
- G. Delivery Van - delivers products made at the construction company to other locations in the city.
- H. Food Processing Plant - Processes large quantities of food entering the city into smaller packages to be used more easily.
- I. Warehouse - Stores materials needed by the city.
- J. Power Company - Produces energy for the city.
- K. Solar Power Plant - Uses the sun's energy to produce power for the city.

Directions As you move through this worksheet, see if you can match the important parts listed above to the specific organelles found in cells. Be sure to write neatly, and in complete sentences.

1. The nucleus is a large, round/oval structure usually located near the center of the cell. It is the control center for all the activities of the cell.
 - a. What company or place does the nucleus resemble in a Cell City?
It would be known as the city hall
 - b. Why do you think so?
The nucleus is the base of all activities and controls all the activities of the cell.
