In its 5th revised and expanded edition approximately 160 international housing projects built after 1945 are documented and analyzed. The focus is on exemplary and transferrable projects and on innovative and trendsetting concepts. The introductory theoretical and historical essays have been newly written or updated and offer a structured overview of the residential housing typology and its development. Fifth revised edition with new projects and contributions. With upgraded visual appearance and a new key color. Access to the content is facilitated by various index functions.

Kalay, 2004 A comprehensive examination of computer aided architectural design and its potential effect on architectural design practice for practitioners, educators, students, and researchers. Computer aided design (CAD) technology has already changed the practice of architecture and it has the potential to change it even more radically. With Architecture's New Media Yehuda Kalay offers a comprehensive exposition of the principles, methods, and practices that underlie architectural computing. He discusses the aspects of information technology that are pertinent to architectural design, analyzes the benefits and drawbacks of particular computational methods, and looks at the potential of emerging computational techniques to affect the future of architectural design CAD technology introduced in the postwar era and adopted in everyday architectural practice beginning in the 1970s is now so indispensable that as William Mitchell observes in his foreword architectural practice without it is as unimaginable as writing without a word processor Yet Kalay argues it has had little qualitative effect This book provides a detailed introduction for practitioners educators students and researchers to aspects of CAD that go beyond the improvements in drafting modeling and rendering for which it is commonly used Computer aided architectural design CAAD is capable of modeling and manipulating objects not merely their graphical representations reasoning about and predicting performance of design solutions generating new design solutions through algorithmic and other methods managing vast amounts of information and taking advantage of opportunities offered by the Internet for collaboration across time and space and for design of the virtual space of the Internet itself Architecture s New Media covers five main topics design methods and computer technology and the relationship between computers and design the principles of communication and representation generative design methods the advantages of computational methods for predicting and evaluating the performance of design solutions and current and future developments in technology including collaborative design intelligent design assistants construction automation and virtual design environments
