Desire After Affect Marie-Luise Angerer,2014-11-24 Desire is a term often used in conjunction with the subject This desire is directed towards the real which is defined as the generic core of the linguistic order As a result of the focus on affect the three terms desire the subject the real have been fundamentally shaken up and called into question Affect in various forms is now a matter of concern across a wide range of disciplines including neuroscience psychology the humanities and social sciences All of these fields have a declared interest in affect in emotions and sensations in pathos passions and the senses Desire After Affect argues that this affective euphoria cannot be explained solely in terms of a repression of language logos and reason It argues that the affective turn is symptomatic of a fundamental shift in modes of thinking about the human condition It explores what this means for the human and the posthuman animal and machine and calls for a new theory of subjectivation a philosophy of media affect
