

COLORADO ESTATE PLANNING CHECKLIST

Navigating through the guide below will provide insight into the process of preparing one's estate for possible illness and death. The documents available in this checklist should be reviewed by a licensed attorney before being signed or filed with the applicable government agencies.

Step 1 – Choose a Health Care Surrogate

Colorado residents should begin the estate planning process by choosing a health care surrogate (a.k.a. health care agent). This individual will be responsible for communicating the principal's health care wishes when he or she is unable to express their own decisions. Once selected, the health care surrogate will have permission to accept, refuse, or stop any medical care administered to the principal.

Medical Durable Power of Attorney – This is the official document used to appoint the principal's primary and alternate medical surrogates. It also allows the principal to specify instructions for the agent concerning any additional medical treatments, life-sustaining procedures, or other provisions they may require.

- Signing Requirements (§ 15-14-705) – Requires the principal's signature or the signature of another individual directed by the principal to sign on their behalf. While not legally required, the form should be signed in the presence of two (2) disinterested witnesses and notarized by an officer of the State.

Step 2 – Choose a Financial Agent

The principal can continue by electing another party known as a financial agent. This individual will make decisions regarding the principal's property and finances. Like the health care surrogate, the decision-making authority of the financial agent can be used even when the principal experiences a medical condition that leaves them unable to make competent decisions.

Durable \(Financial\) Power of Attorney – This document designates the principal's financial agent and defines the powers with which the agent may operate.

- Signing Requirements (§ 15-14-705) – Only requires the principal's signature. That being said, individuals are always encouraged to sign in the presence of two (2) disinterested witnesses and have the signature authenticated by a notary public.
